Pilot Club Volunteers to Donate Services in Local Emergencies

The Pilot club of Torrance has taken upon a new important function. They have volunteered to give their services in any emergency that might arise in the city.

In many of the disasters which have occurred throughout the country there has been an obvious lack of proper registration of casualties and exarces. The flood of Jan. 25, 1956 in Torrance was an example of this lack.

By their services to the Control Center the Pilot club can greatly ease problems of registration, and communication so important during such a time.

Mr. George C. Powell, assistant director of civil defense has acknowledged the importance of the job they can do in assisting members of the Control Center staff.

Their qualifications will enable them to give invaluable clerical help.
